MATERNITY SUPPORT BELTS

Maternity support belts can be helpful in providing support and stabilization during pregnancy to reduce pressure/pain. Based on your findings in your evaluation, your therapist has found the below belt to fit your need. You may use this belt as often as you would like. It is found to be most beneficial when you are up on your feet doing activities. Most find it uncomfortable to wear when sitting or sleeping but you may wear it during these activities as well if you wish.

Maternity SI-LOC® Support Belt

★★★★★ (2 Customer Reviews) Review Item

Sacroiliac belt offers support to the SI joint for greater comfort during and after pregnancy. Non-returnable.

Relieving common SI joint, low back and hip pain during pregnancy and postpartum, the Maternity SI-LOC® Support Belt offers comfortable compression and relief without unnecessary bulk. Constructed of lightweight, breathable material, it conceals under clothing but firmly supports the pelvic structures. Features a "no buckle" design and includes detachable pad for extra support.

___ Maternity Support Belt by Motherhood Maternity

Mother-To-Be® without Insert

☆☆☆☆☆ (0 Customer Reviews) Review Item

The Mother-To-Be® maternity support immediately relieves back pain, as well as abdominal muscle and leg pain, associated with pregnancy by supporting the abdomen. Non-returnable.

The Mother-To-Be transfers the weight of the abdomen back to the spine, where the body carries it naturally. By shifting the weight within the center of gravity, this pregnancy support relieves strain on muscles and ligaments while preventing distortion of the lumbar curve. Lifting and supporting, it relieves stress from the abdominal muscles and reduces pressure at the pelvis for improved circulation. It also relieves pressure on the sciatic nerve.
